Smarter

Education - Incubation - Acceleration

When we look at the challenges we are facing on our little globe, we must realize that we can only solve them if we become much

Smarter.

In Asia, Africa and Europe, the growth of the population and the expectations of a growing middle class offer many challenges as well as opportunities for education and entrepreneurs.

Will we be able thru Smarter Education to create Smarter Entrepreneurs, who will recognize these challenges and opportunities and assist in creating a Smarter World?

Some of the topics we would like to put on the menu are:

- Industry 4.0
- Education 4.0
- Incubation & Acceleration 4.0
- Entrepreneur 4.0
- Society 4.0

Of course, we are also curious to learn from you which topics you would like to schedule.

High Potentials (HiPo's) Talent Scouting & Development

When we talk to people about their own experiences and their observations, there is almost always a common concern: our society does not seem to recognize and take care of our talents in a systematic and successful way.

SCOUTING TIPS

Often people will bring their own experiences or those from their children to the table. This leads to the question: why is so much time & money spend on scouting & developing soccer talents?

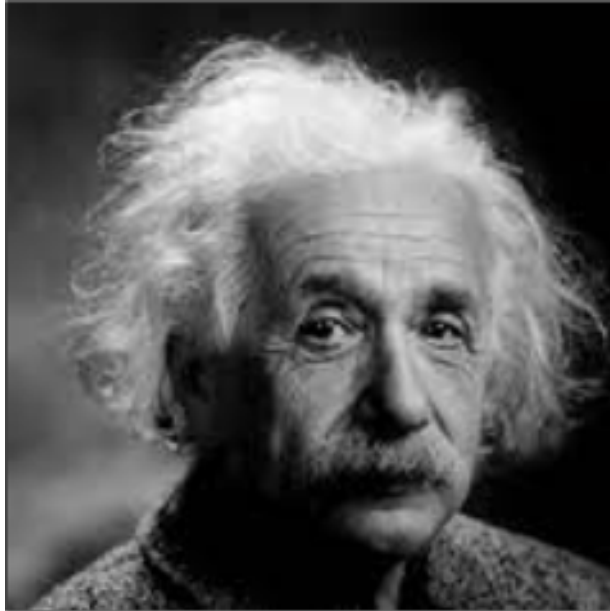

Should we not learn from these example to scout & support our High Potentials (HiPo's) in other fields?

Asking these and other questions is what we will do @ the Bali Summit. Obviously this will lead to answers, to a better understanding of what needs to happen to improve our education system, our selection processes & pipeline management for incubators & accelerators and many other aspects of our society.

Should we not move from mainly figure- or rating based tracking system to a talent management system with a more holistic view, in which the talents which we are guiding will blossom even more?

Questions & Answers Give & Take

If I had an hour to solve a problem and my life depended on it,
I would use the first 55 minutes determining the proper questions to ask.

Albert Einstein

This is why we invite you to join us @ the Bali Summit. We will start with asking the right questions to enable us to use our collective wisdom & experience to envision and work on the right answers.

Give & Take

To get to that point, we kindly ask you to bring your questions to the table, to brainstorm with us during the six months before the Bali Summit.

When we combine your brainpower with that of all the other carefully selected participants, we are convinced something awesome will happen during this process to take home – satisfaction guaranteed!

Event Program Master Chefs @ Work

Ask a Master Chef for his famous Michelin star recipe and he or she will probably decline or even rebuff you.

"Just let me surprise you!"

As mentioned before, the main ingredient will be what you and your peers will bring to the table.

As we step away from the traditional model of speakers with an - often passive - audience, this event will be about sharing in many different ways & formats.

Expect a surprising mixture of your own questions combined with those of all other participants.

Obviously, after five days the "meat-on-the-table" will not only be valuable questions. You will take-away plenty of powerful answers & solutions as well.

Add a bit of fun & sun, relaxation, good food & more to the mix - the result will be a very nice surprise.

All three Core Team members will act as Master Chefs and will use their extensive experience to create the best mix of what participants like you can give so everyone can take home as much as possible.

Diversity Rules the World

Diversity in Age, Geography & Gender

Our world is strengthened by our diversity, in culture, in age, in gender and so many more aspects. The Core Team for the Bali Summit reflects this diversity as much as possible.

In as many ways as possible, our Bali Summit will be a reflection of this diversity. The oldest generation wants to share their experience to be used as inspiration, the executives seek to re-focus, re-align, re-assess and improve their operations.

Realizing that the younger generation (talents) will shape our future, we specifically need to make sure that they will be part of our Bali Summit as well. Therefore our Platinum Package includes the “Hug-a-Hipo” option. You can read more about this on the next pages.

As technology evolves, it impacts the way we live our lives. The faster it develops, the quicker we need to adjust.

We all know change is coming, the question is how do we embrace it and prepare the current and the next generation for it.

We all know things need to change, but we rarely sit in rooms where we can exchange our knowledge, experience and ideas about what the change could look like.

The Bali summit is an opportunity to not just talk about the world and how it's changing, it's an opportunity to shape it. It is an opportunity to connect with diverse individuals who all want to help move the world forward and implement these changes.

The history books aren't filled with people who spoke about change, they're filled with people who made a move to bring about change. Whether they accomplished what they set out to is irrelevant, they made their mark.

I want to make my mark and blaze a trail for the generation after me. That's why I want to be at the Bali summit. To hear & share ideas and diverse perspectives and make connections that will inspire me to start making my mark.

My wife and I have 3 children and I am curious to know how my children will face their world in the future.

Will they still know and practice their culture?

Will they be able to mix local values with globalization?

Will they change the world or follow the changes?

I see and follow some initiatives which tells us that when we use principles for our some older cultures, we will save our world.

One of them is about farm-to-table: how we can grow our own food ourselves and how can technology support such an initiative to simplify things.

So I'm very curious to meet with participants from all over the world to learn, to share and to start initiatives in working together.

I've been surfing the waves of technology for most of my life – in the 1980's catching the wave by developing educational software on the first pc's for Montessori schools and moving over to bigger waves in the 1990's on what is now called the smartphone.

As an entrepreneur, I've shown that I'm not afraid to take risk as well as that I like to cooperate with like-minded people in many different projects - being the "Linking Pin".

For me the Bali Summit feels like a crescendo – after many years of working with beautiful people all over the globe on subjects like communication, education, incubation and more, while creating global communities, bringing all of this together on Bali is indeed the crescendo.

I'm very proud that people from all over the world want to join us to do some "mind surfing" at Bali – lets find out what this next wave will bring for all of us!
